BOAT REGATTA

Think you can build a boat and float the lazy river? This activity is based on the ambitious notion that teams can build a boat out of unusual supplies to compete in a bonafide regatta—while carrying a passenger! Our “first mates” will be on hand to add fun and humor while groups quickly learn the importance of teamwork and creative problem solving. Each team presents their creation in the “Parade of Boats,” performs their team cheer or song and “christens” their watercraft, as they prepare to test their boat’s seaworthiness around the Lazy River.

Prices start at $50 per person, plus tax, with a 20-person minimum requirement.

SURVIVOR FORT

Put on your construction hat for this teambuilding event. Have some fun with your crew by constructing a fort that can withstand the barrage of 75-water balloons with a teammate inside! Name your construction company and present your company slogan. The most durable fort with the most creative name wins.

Prices start at $25 per person, plus tax, with a 20-person minimum requirement.

PHOTO SCAVENGER HUNT

Here's a real test of creativity! Will your team go for points or for time? Teams will receive a list of items they have to find and take photos of, but can only choose 10 pictures to submit. Should they go for the more difficult shots that involves high point values or give up a shot or two to earn more points by being the first team to return? This event is entertaining and thought-provoking. It's serves as a great team building adventure and will allow your group to venture outside and inside the resort.

Prices start at $25 per person, plus tax with a 20-person minimum requirement.

THE QUEST

This game of an adult scavenger hunt creates a fun atmosphere for everyone to loosen up with music and an MC. The group will be split up into teams. The MC will ask each team to complete a quest in which the team has to find certain items or perform tasks. Points will be awarded in the order that the teams get to the MC with the requested item or successfully performs the task.

Prices start at $25 per person, plus tax with a 20-person minimum requirement.

CAN-STRUCTION

Who can sculpt the most original structure using items “bought” at the store? Teams will begin at their table where packages of canned food await them to get started for their structure. After the foreman runs down the worksite rules with the group, they will give each team coins to spend in the store. These coins can be used to buy different colored or shaped packages of food and other decorating items to add variance to their sculptures. Teams must also create a presentation board to introduce and explain their structure design. A group of inspectors can survey all sculptures or participants can vote for their favorite sculpture. All the food used for the construction is donated to Grace Community, a local not-for-profit food bank.

Prices start at $50 per person plus a food donation of $500 or more.

CYCLE CONSTRUCTION CHALLENGE

Give the gift of excitement and work together to build a bike which will be donated to a deserving child. Teams will compete in fun mental and physical challenges to acquire the parts and tools for each bike. After they have collected all the tools and parts, they can compete for coins to buy decorations to enhance their bikes for the bike parade.

Prices start at $50 per person, plus tax with a 20-person minimum requirement.

THE GREAT RED WAGON

A new toy provides fun and enjoyment and gives a child a sense of pride in having something of their very own. This fun team building event involves creativity, ingenuity, and team work. Each team will have to construct and decorate a red wagon that they will take with them on a fun scavenger hunt. Teams will complete challenges around the resort to win and collect toys inside the wagon. The team with the most toys in their wagon in the least amount of time wins. All toy-filled wagons will be donated to children from the Boys and Girls Club.

Prices start at $50 per person, plus tax with a 20-person minimum requirement.
